The New Millennium Essences

The Project

At first glance, the flower essences in the New Millennium Essences range look to be quite basic and simple. Each bottle is labelled with the name of the condition that it treats. Pick up a bottle at random, and you might see a label that is headed with Abundance, Heart Trauma Healing, Addiction or Depression. This makes these essences simple to use, as there is no need to learn complex details of what each essence is for; it is right there on each bottle.

However, beneath this simplicity, there is a power and depth that is truly astounding. Resulting from continuous research and development stretching back to 1992, these essences have an extraordinary energy and healing power that was not possible until very recently.

Just a note of thanks and feedback to let you know I have been taking the essences for a bit more than a week now and know they are working on energies that I have carried since infancy which until now I couldn't identify. I have had spontaneous memories of a time before I had words to describe it and I now feel a shift in what had been issues of trust and connectedness.
Rhiannon, New York.

These New Millennium essences are a lot different from the original Dr Edward Bach Flower Remedies. One reason for this is that the people who developed these essences went right back to first principles in their search for a new range of remedies suitable for helping to heal the issues of the 21st century.

Using the same basic methods as Dr Bach, Peter Archer and his colleagues learned how to become very sensitive to the energies and the issues that are besetting people in the 21st century. And, they trained themselves in the art of consciously noticing and working with these issues, so as to encapsulate in the essences whatever healing energies are needed in order to heal the issues.

Just as Dr Bach, in his time around 1930, was a very keen observer of humanity, leading to his noticing and finding remedies for each of the issues pertaining to each of his 38 Bach Flower essences, so too have Peter and his co-workers noticed and defined many of the issues that are currently besetting people today. In many cases, these 21st-century issues were not recognised or observed until recently.

Humanity's perceptions, expectations and emotional awareness have evolved a lot over the last 90 years. Life is also a lot faster paced than it was back then, and the rate of change is speeding up.

The New Millennium Essences not only directly address these issues now faced by the mass consciousness of humanity, but they have the unique ability of balancing simplicity with complexity: simple and easy to use, yet complex in the way in which they treat the many layers of issues faced by people today.

The New Millennium Essences of New Zealand truly represent a genuine quantum leap into new territory, beyond the realms of what has traditionally been thought possible for flower essences, into a new paradigm of human healing and consciousness.

The People

Peter Archer

When Peter Archer first discovered flower essences in 1992, he was at a major crossroads in his life. About to move to a new city to make a fresh start, he was highly dissatisfied with the way things were, for himself, and with society in general, and he was searching for new ideas. Flower essences were an obvious choice, and he embraced them wholeheartedly, both as a tool for his own healing, and for their potential in providing a future career as an essence practitioner.

After four years of intensive study and work as a part-time essence practitioner, using essences from around the world, Peter felt the need to take the next step into making his own essences, while also continuing in his training and intensive study. This phase lasted for two years until August 1998, when he finished his career in the computer industry to become a full-time essence practitioner and developer.

From those early beginnings, driven by a personal need and also a burning desire to help change the world for the better, the New Millennium Essences as they are today have evolved. Along the way, there have been many new discoveries and exciting innovations, and Peter continued to produce new essences until only a year or so before his untimely passing in June 2019.

Glenys Earle

When Glenys Earle was first introduced to flower essences in 2003, she found she had a real aptitude for this work. Her years of intensive study of yoga and metaphysics, as well as Reiki practice, had culminated in a sensitivity to the devic realm of Nature, enabling Glenys to assist in the development of new essences within a short time of meeting Peter. Glenys then commenced an intense internship with Peter, lasting seven years, and was a full-time partner in New Millennium Essences during that time. Glenys brought her love of aromatherapy to the partnership, and so began the aromatherapy spray blends, which combine organic essential oils with the New Millennium flower essences.

Glenys has a background in the computer industry, mixing teaching, writing and project management with technical skills. All through her adult life, as a result of a series of health crises, she has been searching for a kinder, more holistic model of health and wellness care for our society. Glenys currently works as a healer, specialising in ThetaHealing, Reiki and Energy Medicine. She is also the sole supplier of the New Millennium Essences, which are available as single remedies, as well as flower essence treatments, and in the powerful Living Energy range of aromatherapy spray blends.

Basic Starter Essences

Most of the flower essences in this catalog are grouped according to the year in which they were found, or were specialist sets for particular sets of issues. However, in their work with a multitude of clients over many years, the New Millennium Essences team discovered that certain essences were useful for almost everyone – at least, when they begin their initial healing process.

And in fact, some of the essences, such as the Aura Cleanse, Repair & Debugger (Warrior Rose), Negative Energy Release (Dark Pink Geranium) and Stability (Amber Queen Rose) may be required many times over the course of a treatment.

The Basic Starter Essences are drawn from different New Millennium ranges. The Body and Energy set were found along with the New Energy series in 2002; the Emotional and Physical Relief essences were discovered in 2003, while the Energy Cleansing and Protection essences date primarily from 2007 to 2008. Any of these essences may be used in conjunction with any of the other New Millennium essences, as needed.

Trauma Essences

Healing from trauma has become a major focus of healing over the past few decades, in recognition of the knowledge that unprocessed trauma can become embedded in the body at the cellular level until it is released. So many of us experienced trauma of one kind or another in our lives, often as children growing up in dysfunctional settings. And we are all impacted by the legacy of generational and cultural trauma.

The Trauma essences are designed to help us heal from the effects of embedded trauma. The first set of four essences are for when the trauma occurred in the past and we wish to release it from various layers within the body. The second set is for acute trauma – that is, when the trauma has just occurred or was very recent. It helps us to process and release the trauma before it becomes deeply embedded.

The Trauma essences were discovered from 2002 to 2004 at the same time as the New Energy and New Generation Alchemy series. They were intended to be used for deeper trauma healing work with that series, but may be used in conjunction with any of the New Millennium essences.

New Millennium Essences

New Energy Series

The New Energy Series of essences are made only from flowers, mainly roses. They cover a range of issues for people who are really committed to their personal and spiritual development. The New Energy collection comprises a number of essences for issues such as balancing our energy anatomy (chakras and meridians), and connecting more fully to our true inner “Self”. Specialist super-essences in this range help release beliefs and trauma embedded in the body, reprogram our DNA, and help release genetically inherited issues that no longer serve.

The New Energy essences were first discovered from 2002 onwards, and they represent an advance on traditional flower essences, in that they are no longer dualistic: they no longer have a “negative” aspect, but are inherently holistic. As we enter the New Reality that is rapidly emerging, it is time for humanity to let go of the Duality and move into a state of non-dualistic wholeness.

New Generation Alchemy Series

The New Generation Alchemy Series of flower essences were made from flowers and trees. They represent a higher vibrational energy than the earlier New Energy essence collection, and their purpose is to help us wake up to the “truth” of human experience, to see through the layers of falsehood and illusion that pass for accepted wisdom within our culture.

The New Generation Alchemy essences were discovered from 2003 to 2004 and, like the New Energy collection before them, are inherently non-dualistic. The New Generation Alchemy essences are very powerful, and they are most suitable for people who have already resolved the more basic emotional, mental, physical, and spiritual issues. However, they deal with the same “basic everyday” issues faced by everybody that are covered by some of the earlier essence sets (such as the Super-Essences), but they work at a much deeper level.

Core Issues Series

The Core Issues Series of flower essences were made primarily from flowers and trees. They follow on from the earlier New Generation Alchemy series of essences. This series of essences takes healing to a deeper level, to resolve not only the issues themselves, but also the various hooks, emotional residue and attached entities left by issues, or by people and events, either in the present or in past lives.

The Core Issues collection was first discovered in 2006, and launched in 2007. They take the science of flower essences to a new level in their capability, and they are suitable for people who have already done a lot of work with our other essence collections in stripping away the many layers of energetic “garbage”, and who are now ready for healing at very deep levels, in the process stripping away the layers of the false self and false views of the world in which we live.

They also help in dislodging negative entities, releasing earth-bound spirits and for protection from Dark Forces.

Deep Healing Series

The Deep Healing Series of flower essences are made only from flowers, mainly roses, and represent an even higher vibration energy than the earlier New Generation Alchemy and Core Issues series of essences. This series of essences takes healing to a very deep level when compared with earlier series, in order to prepare us for the higher-vibration energies that are now appearing on Earth.

*The Deep Healing collection was first discovered in 2007. They are intended for those who have already dealt with not only the basic issues of the New Energy and New Generation Alchemy series, but also with those who have worked with or are working with the more fundamental issues underlying the basic ones. Zero Point Field Series

The Zero Point Field Series comprises a range of essences made primarily from flowers, as well as a few environmental essences. This collection represents a completely new breakthrough in the field of vibrational remedies. In the process of creating these essences, the essence maker's consciousness is fused with the zero point field, which is the fundamental quantum field comprising our reality. This takes the process of creating essences to an even deeper level than the Core Issues and Deep Healing collections.

In the zero point field individual subatomic particles exist as pure potentialities until an intelligent consciousness (ie. a human) actually observes them. The act of looking at a particle seems to ground it into concrete physical reality. Prior to the appearance of an observer, the “unobserved” (potential particle) actually is not really “real” in our physical reality.

The Zero Point Field essences were discovered from 2010 onwards, in the upper North Island of Aotearoa New Zealand.

Quantum and Alchemy Series

The Quantum & Alchemy Series are different from earlier New Millennium essence series, both in their extraordinary power, and in the way they work, by addressing issues that have been overlooked previously. They drill right down deep into the very core of the human psyche, healing the deepest trauma.

The Quantum & Alchemy essences are the result of 25 years of intensive research and development. This series represents the last of Peter's work prior to his death in 2019.

Skin Care Series

The Skin Care Series comprises a small set of specialist essences for skin-care applications. These essences work at the energetic level, supporting the cells and tissues of the skin to work more efficiently.

This series is primarily designed to be combined with other ingredients, like essential oils or herbs, into blended skin-care products. However, they can also be used topically on the skin, or be taken internally (in the same as other essences), either on their own or mixed in blends with other essences.

The Skin Care essences began as a project for a day spa training application, and have been used by many producers of bespoke skin care products.

Super-Essences Series

Super-Essences comprise our largest collection of essences, and they are made from flowers, gems, shells and crystals. They cover a very broad range of mainly everyday issues, for practitioner and personal use, as well as essences suitable for those starting out on the spiritual path.

The Super-Essences were first discovered in 2000, and they are produced via an innovative process that combines between two and six of the earlier-generation New Millennium flower essences, to create a new essence that is more than simply a mixture of its ingredients. A Super-Essence is a synergistic blend of the energies of the constituent essences, reconstituted to become a single essence, thus providing far greater breadth and subtlety in its healing power than was previously possible.

Animal Healing Series

The Animal Healing Series comprises a series of essences that are specifically created for animals. While it is true that most essences that work for humans also work well for animals, it is also true that animals experience the world differently, and have many different physical, emotional and behavioural issues than humans do. It therefore makes sense to develop essences for issues that are specific to animals.

The Animal Healing essences were discovered from 2003 onwards. They were defined in partnership with animal communicator and healer, Deb Stewart.
